Completed entry form

I (the entrant) understand and agree that the contest judging is subjective and that I may receive critiques with which I do not agree. I agree to accept and abide by the decisions of the judges and contest officials. By submitting the entry form, I understand and agree that I am releasing from all liability whatsoever the Greater Detroit Romance Writers of America, its directors, officers, judges, agents, representatives, and employees for any claim arising out of my submission.

I request that the submitted original work be entered in the Between the Sheets contest. By submitting this entry form, I certify that I have read, understand and agree to the rules and conditions of the contest, and that the acceptance of my submission is in consideration of, and expressly conditioned on, my agreement to abide by these rules and conditions.
